Part 1

MOLLY: Hey look, guys. There are some sales on today.

JACK: Great! I was here in the shopping centre last week and there weren't any sales then . I haven't got any sunglasses. I want some sunglasses like yours, Ravi, the ones you bought in New York! They're so cool! But they were too expensive.

RAVI: Jack, you never want to spend any money!

JACK: Well, I want to spend some money today! Maybe the sunglasses are in the sales!

MOLLY: Yeah. Let's go and see.

Part 2

MOLLY: Look there are a lot of purses and wallets here – and they're half-price!

JACK: But I don't want a wallet, Molly. I'm looking for sunglasses.

MOLLY: Well maybe I want a purse! Look, this red one's lovely.

RAVI: Hmm, some of these wallets are cool too. I like this black one.

JACK: Molly! Ravi!

MOLLY: How much is it, Ravi?

RAVI: Erm, it's 20 pounds!

JACK: 20 pounds ... and that's half price! That's a lot of money!

RAVI: Yeah ... that's too much. How about trying the market? They're cheaper there.

JACK: Molly, do you want that purse or not?

MOLLY: No. I don't need another purse. But I want to buy a bit of make-up if it's in the sale. I haven't got any left.

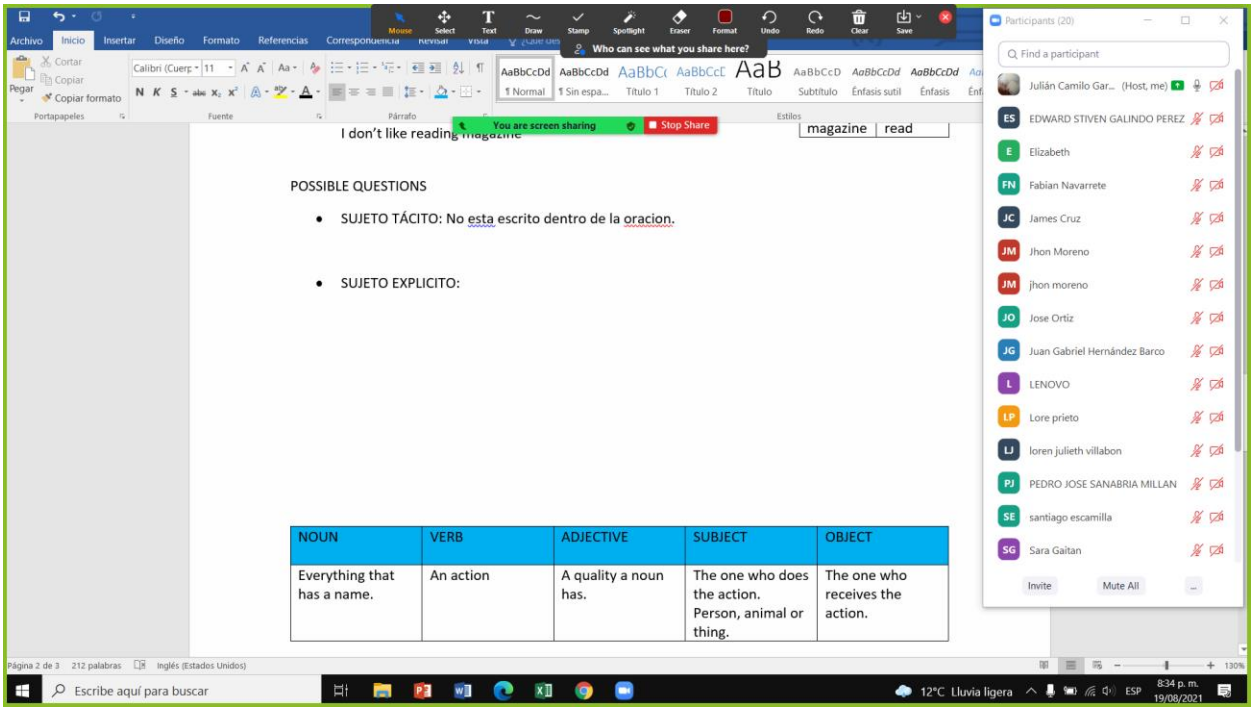

SHOP ASSISTANT: Er, can I help you?

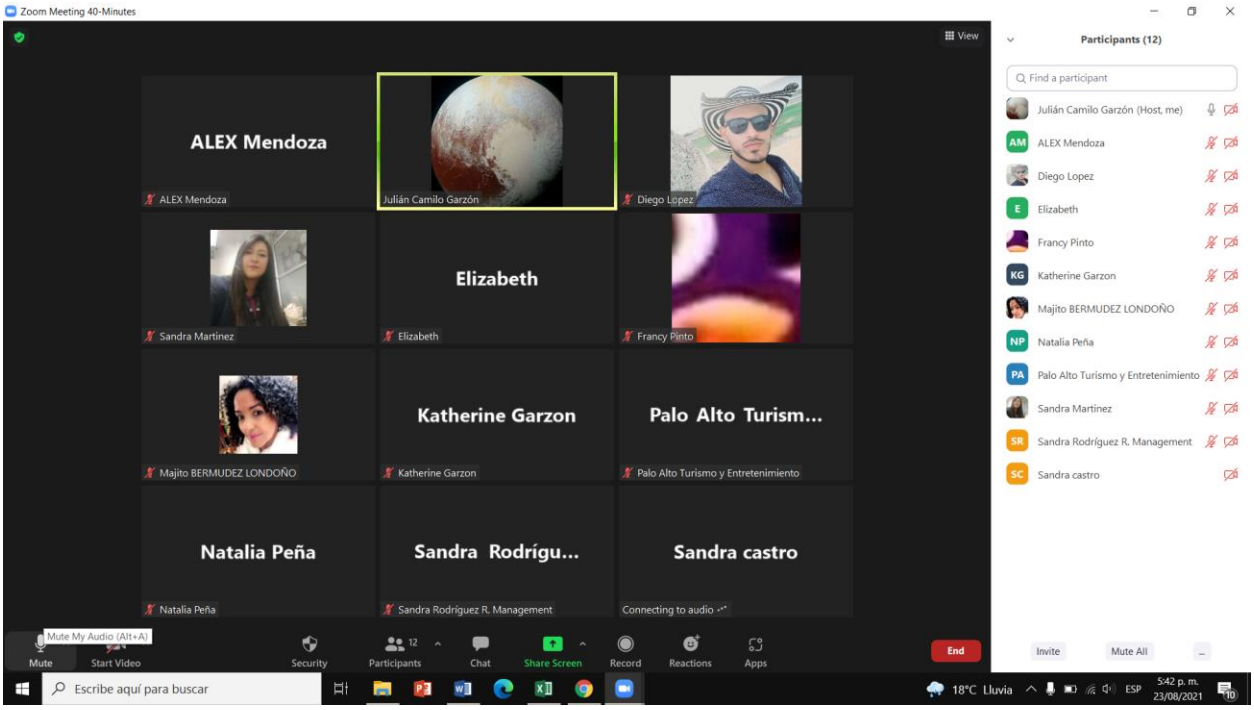

RAVI: No, thanks – we're OK.

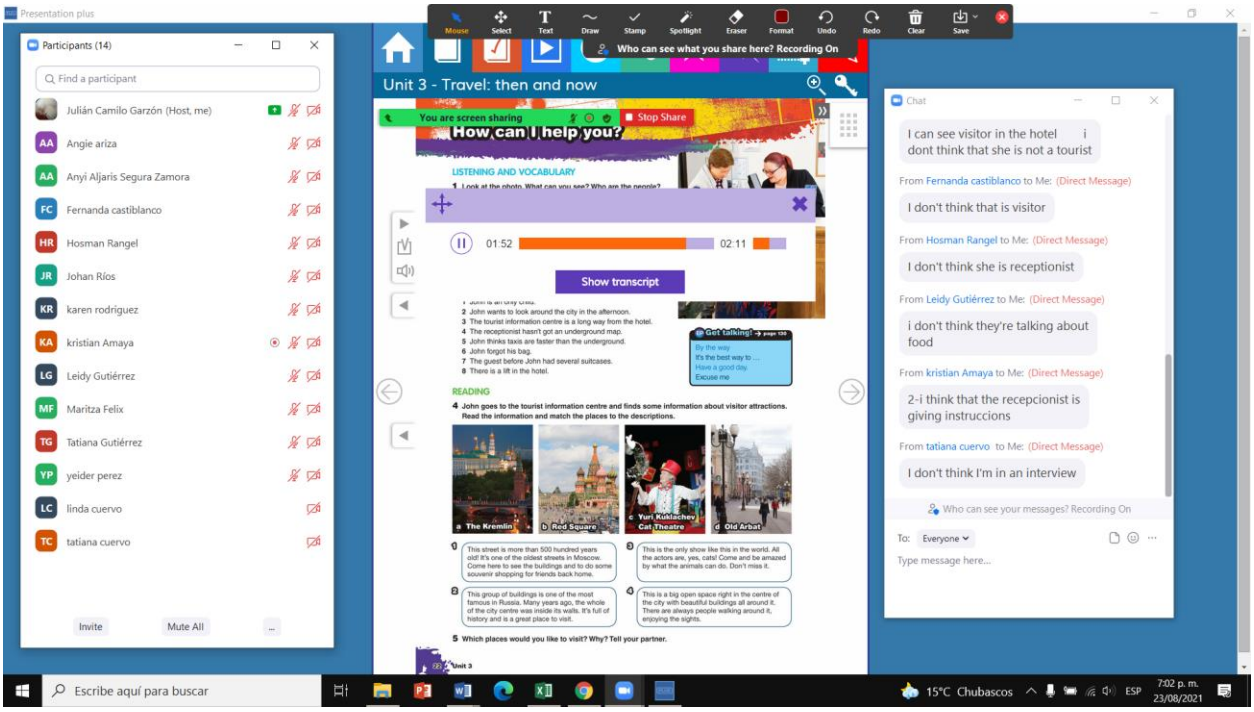

JACK: Let's go! Look, there are a few wallets over there – and some nice pairs of sunglasses!

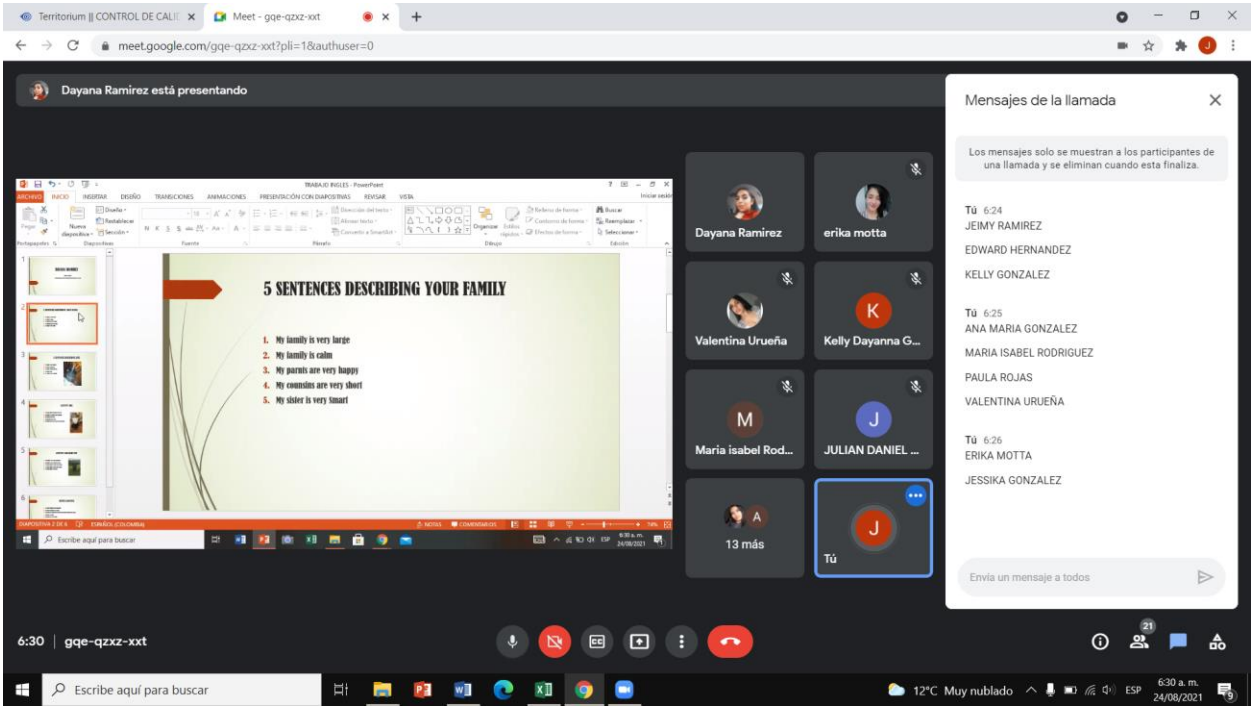

MOLLY: And don't forget the make-up! I hope it's in the sale. Are you coming, Ravi?

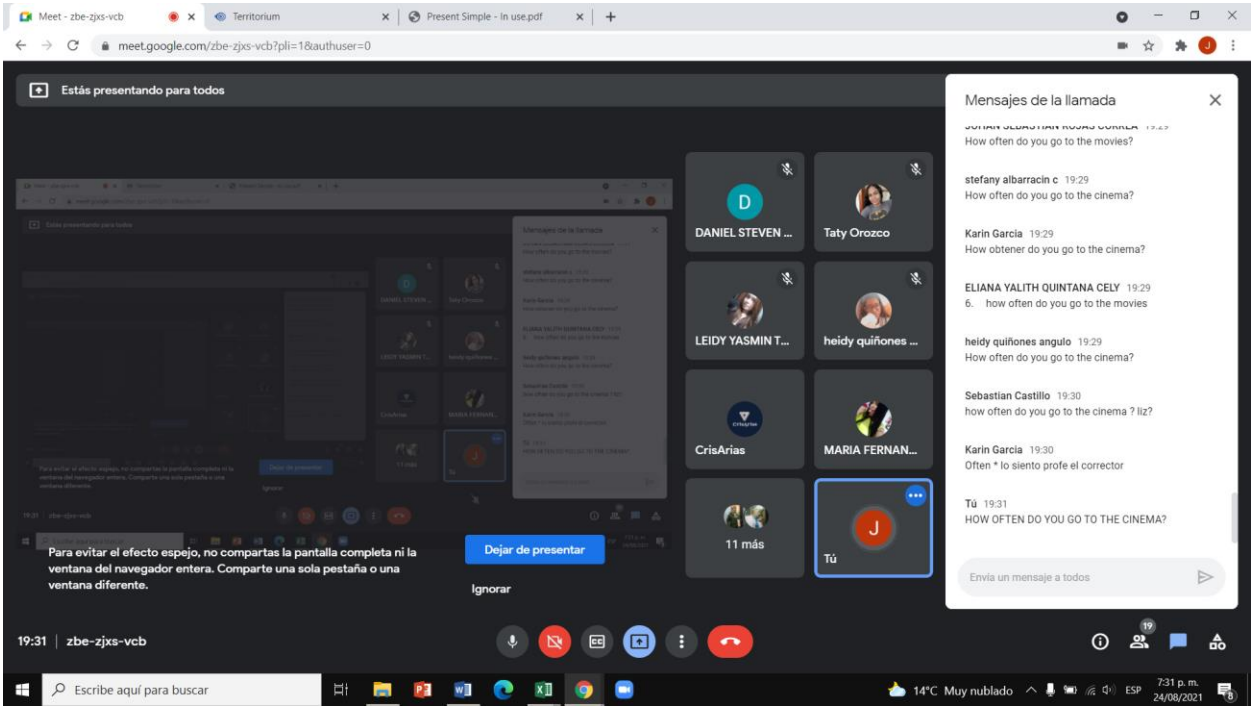

RAVI: Yeah, sure.

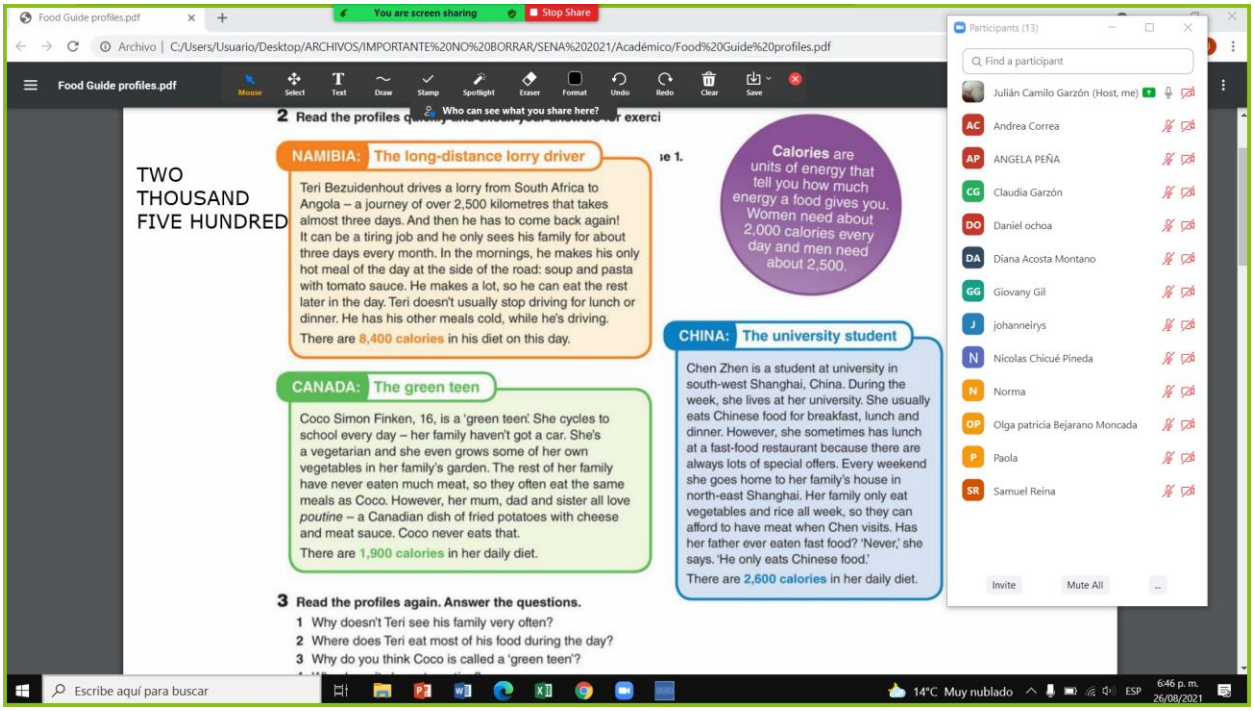

Who can see what you share here?
TWO THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED
NAMIBIA: The long-distance lorry driver
Teri Bezuidenhout drives a lorry from South Africa to Angola – a journey of over 2,500 kilometres that takes almost three days. And then he has to come back again! It can be a tiring job and he only sees his family for about three days every month. In the mornings, he makes his only hot meal of the day at the side of the road: soup and pasta with tomato sauce. He makes a lot, so he can eat the rest later in the day. Teri doesn't usually stop driving for lunch or dinner. He has his other meals cold, while he's driving.
There are 8,400 calories in his diet on this day.
Calories are units of energy that tell you how much energy a food gives you. Women need about 2,000 calories every day and men need about 2,500.
CANADA: The green teen
Coco Simon Finken, 16, is a 'green teen'. She cycles to school every day – her family haven't got a car. She's a vegetarian and she even grows some of her own vegetables in her family's garden. The rest of her family have never eaten much meat, so they often eat the same meals as Coco. However, her mum, dad and sister all love poutine – a Canadian dish of fried potatoes with cheese and meat sauce. Coco never eats that.
There are 1,900 calories in her daily diet.
CHINA: The university student
Chen Zhen is a student at university in south-west Shanghai, China. During the week, she lives at her university. She usually eats Chinese food for breakfast, lunch and dinner. However, she sometimes has lunch at a fast-food restaurant because there are always lots of special offers. Every weekend she goes home to her family's house in north-east Shanghai. Her family only eat vegetables and rice all week, so they can afford to have meat when Chen visits. Has her father ever eaten fast food? 'Never,' she says. 'He only eats Chinese food.'
There are 2,600 calories in her daily diet.
3 Read the profiles again. Answer the questions.
1 Why doesn't Teri see his family very often?
2 Where does Teri eat most of his food during the day?
3 Why do you think Coco is called a 'green teen'?

Hi! I'm Jess. I live with my mum and dad. My friends say I'm a cheerful person. They're right. I enjoy having a laugh with them. In my free time, I love sport, especially tennis. I'm having lessons this term, because I want to learn how to play properly. This year I'd like to try something completely different, maybe a winter sport or even an extreme sport like kite surfing. Next month, I'm staying at an adventure centre with my youth club, so I guess we'll try something different there. I'm good friends with Matt and Ali in my class. I live right opposite Matt, so I see him a lot.
Hi guys! I'm Ali Malik. I live with my parents and my brother and sister in a flat. Some of my classmates think I'm quite serious. I like doing things well and getting good marks. Out of school, I always have fun with my friends. My main interest is computers – I love them! I'm designing a computer game right now but I need to ask my uncle about it - he's a computer programmer. I'm taking part in the Young Game Designers competition. My mum believes I can win!
Hello! My name's Matt. I live with my mum, dad, my little brother and my sister Alyssa. If you're feeling miserable, then I'm the right person to call! People think I'm very funny. As for my free time, I'm keen on watching films – comedies, adventure, animated films – it doesn't matter. I like them all! I sometimes spend all day Saturday and Sunday watching them. This year, I want to visit a film studio. There's one near London where they made the Harry Potter films. You can actually visit it. My dream is to fly to Hollywood and see a studio there!

RAVI: Jack, you never want to spend any money!
JACK: Well, I want to spend some money today! Maybe the sunglasses are in the sales!
MOLLY: Yeah. Let's go and see.
