Luisa is a student at “California Cooking school”, last year she travelled to Colombia.

She stayed for about 20 days in the heart of the coffee region, she lived in a small apartment near Bolivar Square in Armenia city.

She wanted to cook a typical Colombian food; so she went to a Restaurant “ Las Noreñas”. Luisa talked to the chef and explained about her final Project.

She had to cook a typical food from a latin American country. Hernando said she had to buy some ingredients in the supermarket.

He wrote the ingredients list and set the cooking class for the next day.

On Friday in the morning Luisa and Hernando prepared a Delicious “Ajiaco”.

They boiled the chicken for 20 minutes, then, they cut the potatoes and grided the Carrots. They finally add some salt, cut the chicken in small pieces and put some avocado and corn on it.
