

A group of children and adults are gathered on a wooden stage outdoors. The children are sitting on the stage, some looking at papers or books, while others are standing. A bicycle is parked on the left side of the stage. In the background, there are trees and a banner with the word 'Estre' visible.