Preguntas SABER 11 de inglés

1. A. "Must" is used for strong obligations or necessities, which fits the advice being given. "Can" suggests possibility, not obligation, and "might" suggests a weak possibility.

2. A. "Should" is appropriate for giving advice or suggestions, which fits the context. "Can" indicates ability, and "must" indicates strong obligation.

3. B. "Must" conveys necessity or critical actions needed to achieve a goal. "Should" is weaker, suggesting a recommendation, and "might" doesn't fit as it suggests a possibility.

4. C. "Should" is suitable for suggesting actions that are advisable to create a positive impact. "Could" expresses ability, and "must" is too strong for general advice.

5. C. "Should" introduces a recommendation or advice on how to handle situations. "Must" is stronger and implies a requirement, while "might" suggests possibility.

6. A. "Have to" indicates a necessity reflecting responsibility or duty, which is appropriate here. "Might" indicates possibility, and "should" indicates a recommendation.

7. A. "Should" provides advice on ways to contribute positively, "could" suggests possible actions without emphasis, and "have to" implies obligation which doesn’t match the advisory nature.

Global Citizenship Tips (Levels: A1.1, A1.2, A2.1)

Being a good global citizen means acting responsibly in the world. Here are some ways you can be one:

1. Respect and Tolerance:
   We must respect and tolerate different cultures and traditions. Understanding your neighbors and their customs helps create peace. We should always try to learn from others.

2. Environment Care:
   You should never waste resources. Save water and energy to help our planet. Recycling is a good habit — you must recycle paper, plastic, and glass to reduce waste.

3. Helping Others:
   Helping others is important. We have to be kind to everyone, regardless of their background. Volunteer at local organizations; this helps build a strong community.

4. Stay Informed:
   A good citizen must know what happens around the world. You should watch the news and read articles to stay informed about global issues.

5. Speak Up:
   You should speak up against injustice. Whenever you see unfair treatment, you must voice your concern and stand up for what is right.

These actions ensure we contribute positively to our world, making life better for everyone.

Preguntas SABER 11 de inglés

1. The text explicitly states, 'you must recycle paper, plastic, and glass to reduce waste.' This makes option A the correct answer. The other options either contradict the purpose (C, D) or miss the specific recycling message (B).

2. The text mentions that 'we should always try to learn from others' as a way to create peace and understand neighbors, making A the correct answer. B and C are unrelated or contrary actions, and D does not foster understanding.

3. The text advises, 'Save water and energy to help our planet.' Thus, A is correct. B, C, and D are actions that lead to wastage.

4. Volunteering is explicitly mentioned as a way to 'help build a strong community,' making A correct. Options B, C, and D are either unrelated or detrimental to community building.

5. The text states, 'You should watch the news and read articles to stay informed about global issues,' which makes A the correct option. B, C, and D do not ensure staying informed.

6. The correct action stated is, 'You should speak up against injustice,' making A right. Options B, C, and D are contrary or passive responses to injustice.

7. Helping others is linked to community strengthening in the text: 'this helps build a strong community,' so A is correct. B, C, and D either negate or misunderstand the purpose of helping others.

8. The introduction states, 'Being a good global citizen means acting responsibly in the world,' thereby making A correct. The other options are opposite to responsible global citizenship.
