Description: Detected iSCSI discovery or login through cluster external IP address

Alert Message: Detected iSCSI discovery from client x.y.z.10 through cluster external IP address

Impact: The iSCSI service won't be highly available and the performance would be affected Possible

Cause: The iSCSI discovery or login portal is incorrectly configured Resolution: Use the cluster external data services IP address for iSCSI discovery

The A130346 alert is raised when Stargate service notices devices using External VIP (virtual IP) for iSCSI login/discovery. Some backup applications require using the cluster VIP to register the Nutanix cluster within the application.

Post-configuration the application auto-discovers and utilizes the cluster Data Services IP for iSCSI backups. For such configurations, ensure the Data Services IP is configured and reachable from the backup application. If the DSIP is unreachable, the backup application could use the VIP and generate this alert.
